What personal data we collect

In the context of Annual Conference registration and participation, LEAD Network may collect and process personal data such as your first name, last name, job title, company name, email address, country, LEAD Network Member Platform status, career level and gender.

Where relevant to your participation in the event, we may also process information you choose to provide in relation to dietary restrictions, accessibility requirements, or other event-related requests.

Where necessary for payment and invoicing purposes, we may also collect or receive billing details, company invoicing information, tax-related information and records relating to payment status.

Purposes of processing

We process your personal data for the purpose of registering you for the Annual Conference, managing your participation in the event, communicating with you in relation to the event, and providing you with practical information, joining instructions and relevant event updates.

Your personal data may also be used for attendee administration, access management, event logistics, invoicing, payment administration, accounting records, and the handling of specific requests relating to your attendance, including dietary or accessibility arrangements where applicable.

As the Annual Conference is intended for LEAD Network members, if you register for the event without being a LEAD Network member at the time of registration, LEAD Network may contact you by email between the date of your conference registration and the date of the Annual Conference in order to remind you to complete your LEAD Network membership registration.

These communications will be limited to what is necessary to inform you about the membership requirement connected to conference attendance, to support the completion of your membership registration, and to provide you with practical guidance on the next steps.

Your personal data will not be used for this purpose after the date of the Annual Conference, unless another lawful basis applies.

Legal basis for processing

LEAD Network processes your personal data where such processing is necessary to take steps at your request prior to registration and to perform the arrangements relating to your attendance at the Annual Conference.

We may also process your personal data where this is necessary to comply with legal obligations, including accounting, tax and invoicing requirements, and where it is necessary for our legitimate interests in planning, administering, securing and improving the Annual Conference and related systems, provided that such interests are not overridden by your rights and interests.

LEAD Network may also process your personal data for the purpose of sending limited follow-up communications relating to LEAD Network membership where this is necessary for our legitimate interests in administering an event intended for members and ensuring that registration conditions are met, provided that such interests are not overridden by your rights and interests.

Sharing of personal data

Where necessary for the organisation and delivery of the Annual Conference, LEAD Network may share your personal data with vFairs, as provider of the registration and event platform, as well as with other service providers supporting event administration, communications, payment handling, invoicing, technical support, venue operations or catering.

Personal data will only be shared to the extent necessary for the relevant purpose and only with those parties who need access to it in order to support the delivery and administration of the event or to comply with legal obligations.

International transfers

Because some of our service providers may process personal data outside the European Economic Area, your personal data may be transferred internationally in connection with the Annual Conference registration and management process.

Where this occurs, LEAD Network will ensure that appropriate safeguards are in place in accordance with applicable data protection laws.

Data retention

LEAD Network will retain your personal data only for as long as necessary for the purposes set out in this Privacy Notice.

Personal data relating to registration and event management will be retained for as long as reasonably necessary to administer the Annual Conference and any related follow-up actions. Personal data relating to invoicing, payment and accounting records will be retained for as long as required under applicable legal, tax and financial record-keeping obligations.

Once the information is no longer required, it will be securely deleted or anonymised, as appropriate.

Data security

LEAD Network takes appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect personal data against accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure or access.

Access to personal data is restricted to those individuals who require it for the purposes of event administration, finance, compliance or technical support.

Your rights

Subject to applicable data protection law, you have the right to request access to your personal data, request the rectification of inaccurate or incomplete data, request the erasure of your data, request the restriction of processing, object to certain processing activities, and request the portability of your personal data where applicable.

You also have the right to lodge a complaint with the competent supervisory authority if you believe that your personal data has been processed in breach of any applicable data protection law.
